A first class selection of piano solos as played by Bill Evans. The transcriptions include some of of my favourite classic popular songs such as 'Night and Day'. The arrangements are mostly manageable for a pianist of moderate ability. Highly recommended for the jazz arrangements and good value (pricewise).

The incomparable pianistic innovations of Bill Evans (1929 – 1980) continue to be celebrated by jazz fans, and closely studied by serious musicians worldwide. During his over twenty-five year recording career, he changed the approach to the sound of the piano itself in jazz by his touch, and his attention to pedaling, phrasing and dynamics.
