First Person Reading And Writing

Writing in first person:

Literature in the first person point of view is written from the speaker's perspective.

This point of view uses first person pronouns to identify the speaker/narrator. First person point of view is generally limited in that as well as narrative. The first person is an alternative to second person, which uses "you," as in the sentence "You are the smartest person in the room." The first person is also an alternative to third person, which uses "he," "she," or "it," as in the sentence "He is the most handsome person in the room."
